Staff honors a dedicated teacher

The 1967 Mirror Staff takes pride in honoring a person whose faithful service often goes unrewarded. Because she is so closely associated with the seniors, her many contributions are often not fully realized by the students until they are well into their senior year.

Her contributions are many and varied. As a teacher of government and senior sponsor she has shown an honest interest in each student and his opinion and has always stressed the highest of academic standards in preparing her students for college.

She has served on the State Textbook Commission and has been influential in the State Twelfth Grade Government Curriculum. In 1961-62 she taught a pilot course in Communism. At the present she is chairman of the social studies department and is sponsor of the National Honor Society.

Young-at-heart and full of humor, the warmth of her personality is felt by students and fellow teachers alike. She is a true Wildcat fan and can always be seen cheering in the stands at football and basketball games. Even her classes are frequently sparked with a bit of fun, as she tells her latest joke or reads the lunch menu aloud during a pop test.

Students, teachers, and staff members wholeheartedly dedicate this 1967 Mirror to Mrs. Elizabeth Denny.

Faithful fans make for spirited year

A victory embrace is shared by two happy Wildcat fans.

Behind the team all the way with enthusiastic support are assistant principal Robert Long and principal Arthur Welch.

Ever johnny-on-the-spot, the younger set completely steals the show during the archery demonstrations at half-time.

Always on hand for the fun and excitement of football games are the Reverend William Blood with his wife.

Chomping into a hot dog from the snack bar is Donna Henry.

Refusing to let an auto injury break his perfect record of attendance at football games, Mr. Carlos Wine is chauffeured right to the sideline by Mr. Jack Bowers.

Happiness is traditional autumn events

Warren's football players and her cheerleaders rouse true Wildcat fans at the burning of the Handley Judge.

Members of our football team joyfully carry the Handley Judge to his fiery end.

Reigning at Sadie Hawkins are Little Abner, Andy Millar, and Daisy Mae, Ruth Roberson, along with Marrying Sam, Mr. Long.

Jean Boller and Gilbert Baltimore succeed in bobbing for apples on Sadie Hawkins night.

This fellow treads softly while searching for a lost contact lens at Sadie Hawkins.

The carols sung by the choir, directed by Miss MacNeil, instill joy and Christmas spirit in the hearts of the students.

Christmas Spirit clearly seen at school

The spirit of Christmas is clearly seen in the halls of WCHS. Terry Miller and Barbara Furr stand by our Christmas tree to collect the "White Gifts" collected for admission to the Christmas concert and to distribute programs.

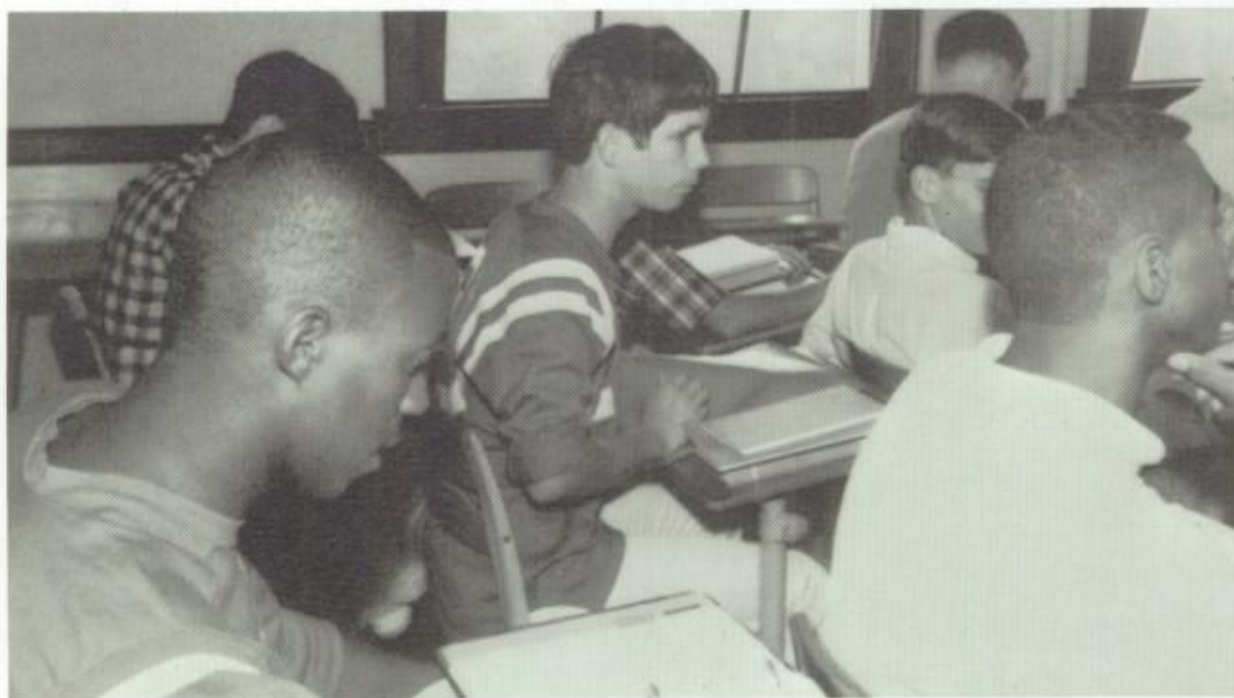

Madrigal carolers Sherry Turner, Gail Davant, John Shiner and Kathy Kibler sing a Christmas tune.

Key Clubbers Andy Millar, Bill Beattie, Bill Wood, Donald Hazelette, Barry Foglesong, and Tommy Biggs help bring joy and comfort to the indigent families in Warren County by delivering Doc Smith baskets.

Amid changes, routine remains

New spirit invades classroom routine as football players Michael Travis and C. B. Russell attend history class in their football jerseys to launch the new season.

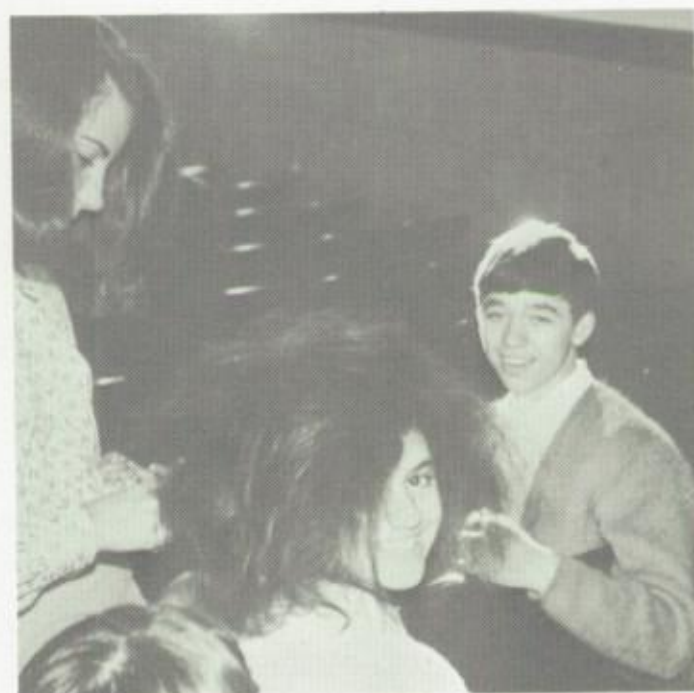

Carefully heeding a sign, Kathy McPeak tries on a pair of protective eyeglasses in the Industrial Arts Department.

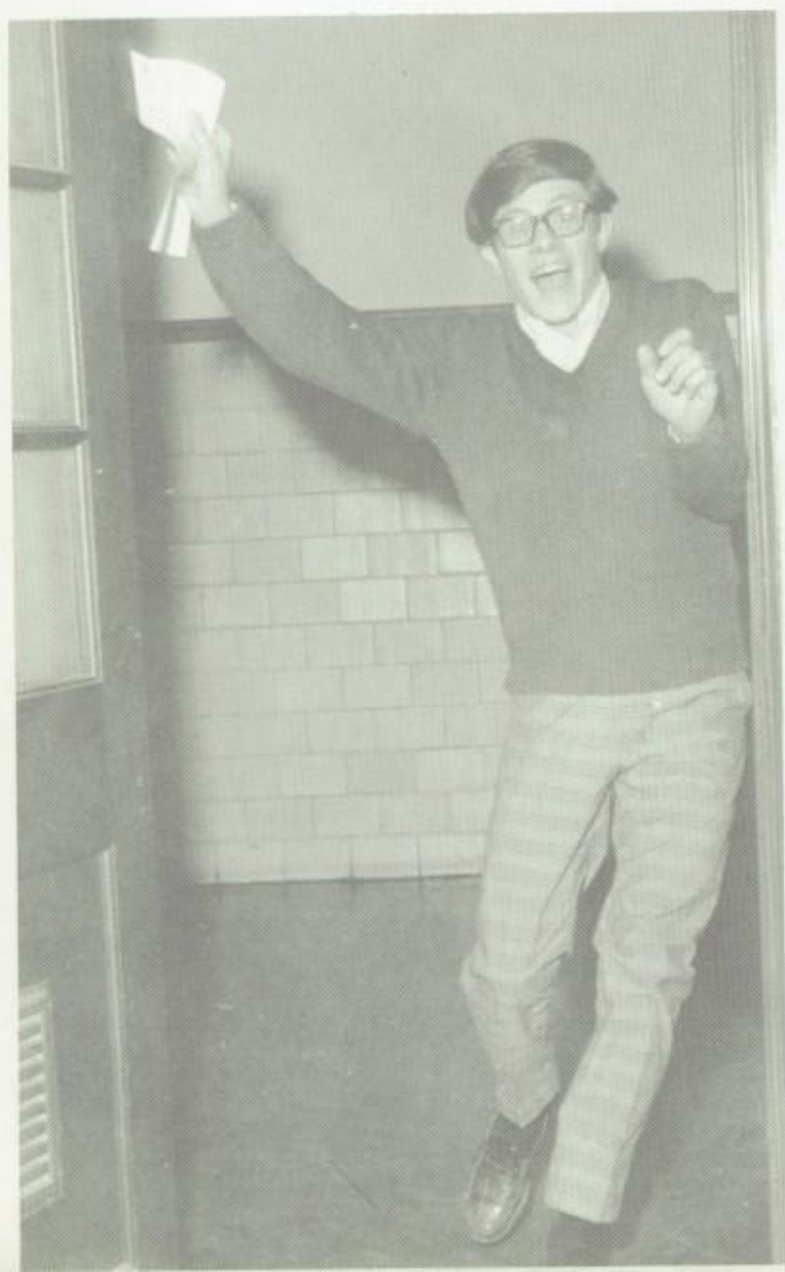

Sanding and refinishing a desk might help W. K. Stratton learn that a student does not chew gum during class.

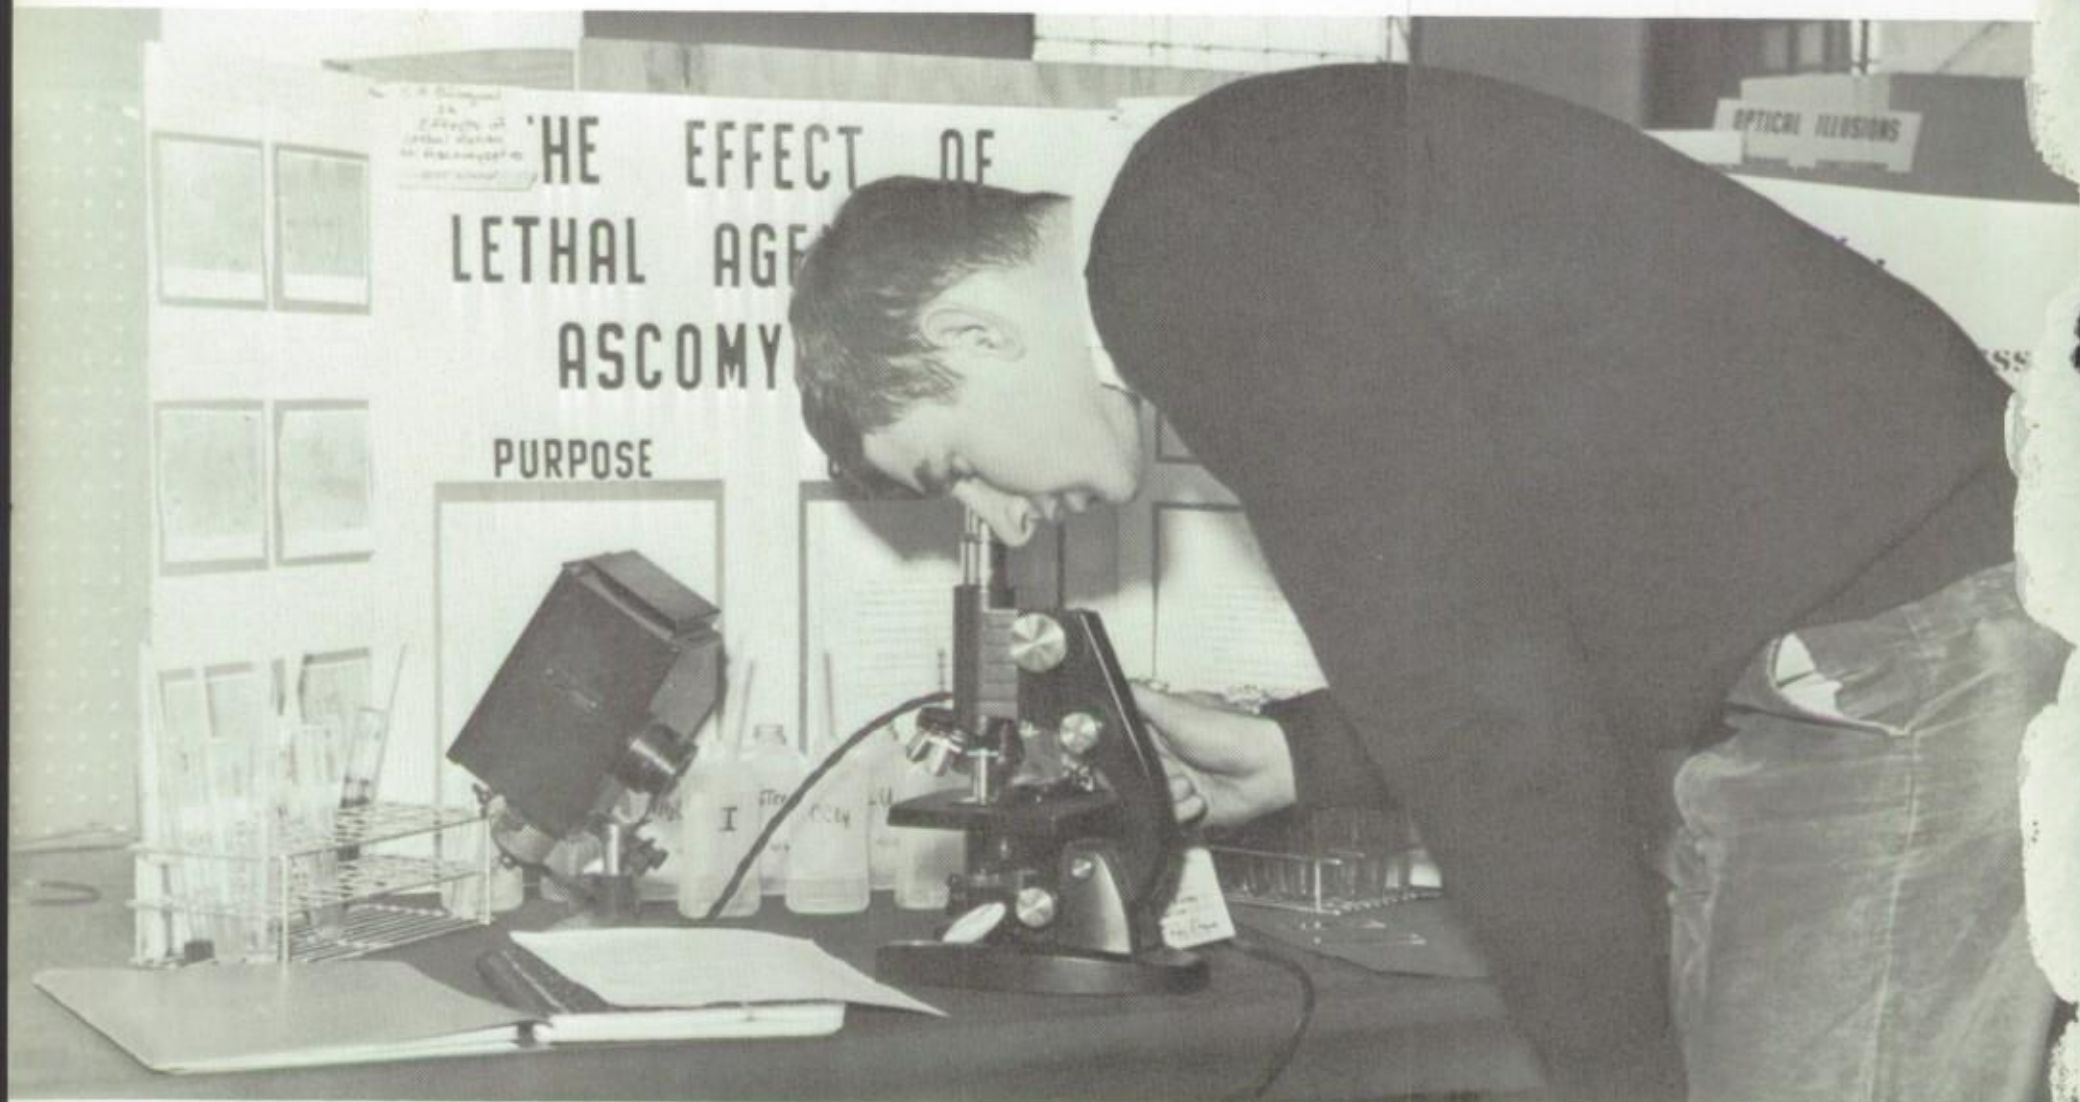

She could be getting ready to play one of the witches in Macbeth, but it's a routine hair combing for Patty Rock.

An overjoyed Roger Powell rushes to inform his teachers and classmates of a college acceptance.

Juniors scramble to retrieve the money unintentionally dropped by a classmate.

The District Baseball Championship Trophy is awarded to Mr. Shiflett by Mr. Edmondson at the Sports Banquet.

Carefully checking his entry, Bill Wood prepares for the Science Fair.

Gala activities enliven Spring

These students have fun and at the same time hit their goal of $1000 pledged by Warren High for the new Youth Center.

The 1966 Mirror meets approval at the Annual Staff's Banquet.

Students flex sore muscles to meet state requirements in Physical Fitness Tests.

Standing amid the splendor of the gazebo at "A Summer Place" are Peggy Delk and Roger Powell.

The prom and graduation fetes highlight spring activities

Urged by Mrs. Wagner; Anne Collins, Beth Carter, and Frances Corron put finishing touches on prom decorations while creating their prom coiffures.

Graduates pass candles to new seniors as a climax to the year's traditions.

Reporters for the newspaper are: Jimmy Cross, Mattox Saunders, Rolfe White, Eddie Hartsell, Isobel Brock, Anne Fansler, Jeannie McFall, Barbara Ford, and Nancy Trumbull.

Laboring over the next edition of the Wa-Co-Hi-Lights are Steve Gibson, cartoonist; Sherry Foglesong, feature editor; Bill Beattie, sports editor; and Danny Rinker, staff photographer.

Wa-Co-Hi-Lights presents new feature

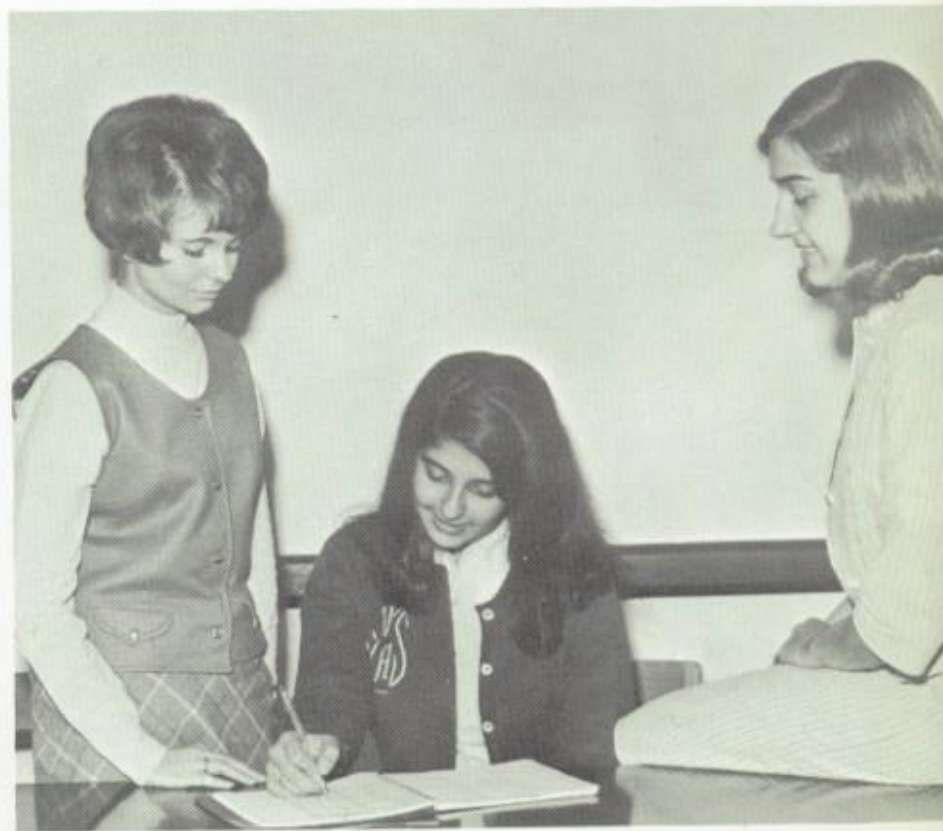

Designing a layout for the prize-winning Wa-Co-Hi-Lights are Susan Grubbs and Carolyn Baldwin, this year's editors.

With an enlarged staff, enthused by participation in a high school critique at RPI, the Wa-Co-Hi-Lites went to work this year with fervor, in their second year of using a new method of newspaper production. Old staff members have become accustomed to this system, in which all copy and pictures are pasted up on a layout before it goes to press, and new members have found it messy, but fun. For the first time, the staff has found itself with both junior executives and a copy editor, neither of which have been on the staff in previous years.

"Shirts and Skirts", a new feature discussing the world of fashion, has been well received by the female portion of the student body. Each issue presents facts and figures about the current vogue of dress, its practicality and staying power.

Editorial assistants, Bryane Miller, Vicki Silek, and Mary Baldwin discuss results of paper sales.

Cooperating to improve the next issue of the Wa-Co-Hi-Lights are Adele Affleck, business manager; Mrs. Hayes, sponsor; Claudia Scheuer, copy editor; and Peggy Delk, circulation manager.

Staff responds to enthusiastic publisher

Co-editors Beth Carter and Anne Collins begin the endless task of searching through old yearbooks for picture ideas.

Enthusiasm was the word for the 1966-67 Mirror Staff. Encouraged by the interest of a new publisher, whose representative visited even as last year's book was being finished, the staff started collecting money for "the best yearbook ever!" during the summer months, and continued up until the sale of annuals began in middle October. The frequent visits of Mr. Owens from the American Yearbook Company kept the spirit and eagerness of the staff high as they worked toward their goal of an All American yearbook, the highest rating which a high school yearbook can achieve.

As they presented the 1967 Mirror to the students, the staff eagerly awaited the reactions to the new look in covers. For years queries concerning color had been answered, "Orange!" Now it was true. The 1967 really was orange. Would the students like it? Let's hope so!

The staff's hard-earned money is handed over to Mrs. Wines by business manager Mike Laing with the assistance of his associate, Brenda Napier.

Coping with copy and caption problems is Katie Denny, copy editor, with the assistance of Miss Edith Walter, staff advisor.

In a familiar pose, faculty editor Vicki Calhoun, senior editor Anne Thomas, and sports editor Andy Millar can be found clowning in their spare time.

Sandy, Best of luck to a real cute & nice gal. Thanks for showing me around Warren High and being my locker buddy. Remember all the fun we had in homeroom and all your problems!! Be good & remember me!!
Luv,
Rita

Latin Club presents lively initiation

Latin Club members, Tony Casarotti, Gary Cullen, Jim Eastham, Craig Wood, Elizabeth Boucher, Mary Ann Cromley, and Anne Priode pose in Roman robes at their Latin banquet.

A warm September day found the hill behind the school peopled with three-legged creatures in sacks. This was the Latin Club initiation.

The Inter Nos Latin Club is led by these officers: Laura Denny, consul; Jane Gardner, pro-consul; Gary McFall, scribe; and Diane White, quaestor. Mrs. Rives is their sponsor.

At meetings programs, which were arranged by a chairman chosen for each meeting, included films, speakers, and games such as To Tell the Truth played with Roman characters. Plans were made for a joint activity of an educational trip to Washington, D.C. or a Latin banquet.

GM program presents previews of progress

Explaining a project to Cindy Gibb is Nena Margaret Bowen.

Rho Sigma Chi, the Science Club of WCHS, enthused and entertained the student body with their presentation of the General Motors program, "Previews of Progress". With spirited concentration, they saw a watery liquid transformed to rubber in a bottle, and styrofoam made before their very eyes. While enduring an earth shattering noise, they observed the actual working of a jet engine.

In March, Rho Sigma Chi sponsored the Seventh Annual WCHS Science Fair. The biggest fair ever, student projects covered almost every scientific category from psychology to astronomy. Local winners went on to compete in both regional and state science fairs. Guided by the Science Fair Chairman Isobel Brock, the highly organized fair was well attended by students as well as citizens of Front Royal and Warren County.

Health Careers plans field trip

The Health Careers Club has been very active this year. They put a float in the Christmas parade called "The Spirit of Giving." The club gave Thanksgiving baskets to the people in the nursing homes around Front Royal. These club members have taken several trips this year: to the Medical Museum in Washington D.C. and to Western State Hospital in Staunton, Virginia. They sold candy to get the money for these trips. The Health Careers Club has had many people in health professions come to speak to the club about their professions.

Miss Robbins, biology teacher at Warren County High, is the club sponsor. The officers are: Faye Feldhauser, president; Vivian Gilliam, vice president; Paige Evenson, secretary; Carol Furr, treasurer; Anne Thomas, reporter.

FBLA wins awards

The Future Business Leaders of America's meetings have been highlighted by guest speakers from the business fields and other well-prepared and informative programs. The beginning of the school year found them in the midst of their annual stationery sale, which netted a sizeable profit for the club treasury. In the past year they have not only visited the business offices of local firms such as FMC Corporation, but have also journeyed to Monroe College and to Madison for the regional meeting of the FBLA Clubs of America.

Chic new blazers designate DE students

The Distributive Education Club of WCHS has always been active, but this year is filled to the brim with projects and other DE sponsored activities. In conjunction with the Distributive Education Clubs of America and their celebration of National DECA Week, students from this club participated in a round table discussion of D.E., aired over radio station WFTR—an informative program which was well received by the citizens of Front Royal. With 66 members, the DE Club is large both in size and community service. After winning second place last year, they again sponsored a float in the annual Christmas parade. They have also undertaken a civic improvement survey for the town of Front Royal, collecting and compiling pertinent data. In the spring, they sponsored an employer-employee banquet, honoring the merchants of Front Royal who have employed DE students during the year.

Creative clubs develop many talents

After an elaborate and fun-filled initiation, the FHA got down to business furthering interest in the creative arts of homemaking. Sewing and cooking are probably foremost in this list. In December, FHA members dressed dolls as a service to the Salvation Army, and entered a float in the Christmas parade.

During the school year their culinary arts are admired by many inhabitants of the community.

The Art Club of WCHS performs many valuable services for the students and teachers. Their creativity is responsible for the unique and informative bulletin boards which liven the halls during meaningful times of the school year. For a small fee, they prepare posters and other advertisements of skill and wit. Their meetings are enriched by guest speakers and films. A field trip to Richmond highlighted their activities.

FTA party delights retarded children

The Future Teachers of America continued to prepare prospective educators for teaching by giving valuable firsthand experience.

The club sponsored an open house program during American Education Week, at which time they directed visitors and served refreshments.

The most rewarding activity of the year came when the FTA assisted with a Christmas party for area mentally retarded children. In the spirit of Christmas, club members provided the children with gifts and refreshments.

Behind the scene, members of the FTA sample refreshments.

Cheerleader salesmen finance activities

With vim, vigor, and vitality, the cheerleading squads did much to create an atmosphere of dedicated spirit among the students and athletes this year. Putting in a long hard week's work, the varsity cheerleaders got themselves into shape at the American Cheerleaders Association camp this summer. Throughout the football season, the walls and bulletin boards were decked with posters and signs which urged the team on to victory. Miniature maroon and white footballs were thrown to the crowd at each home game.

A colorful motorcade of decorated cars preceded the Homecoming game. The cheerleaders led this procession from the school to the stadium, where the game began with the players running through a victory hoop the cheerleaders had made.

Basketball season was marked by new cheers, chants, and formations performed by both the varsity and junior varsity squads. Money was made for these activities by selling candles at Christmas time.

This year's Junior Varsity cheerleaders are: Barbara Ford, Sally Smith, Diane White, Kathy Adcox, Lucy Ellen Williams, captain; Kay Sealock, Mary Nesbitt, and Nancy Trumbull.

NHS, Quill and Scroll honor upperclassmen

Spring, 1966 brought an awards assembly and the tapping of new members for the National Honor Society. This honor organization, devoted to those upperclassmen who have maintained a B average and who have excelled in scholarship, leadership, character and service to school, was chartered at WCHS in 1963, and has grown steadily in membership. Although limited in activities as a club, members of the NHS do work as student tutors during their free periods and after school.

Membership in Quill and Scroll is designed to honor those students who have made an outstanding contribution to a school publication. Members of Quill and Scroll at WCHS come from the staffs of both the Wa-Co-Hi-Lites and the Mirror. Advised by Miss Edith Walter and Mrs. Mary Hayes, this honorary organization inducted new members in the fall in an impressive ceremony during which seven were tapped for membership.

Quill and Scroll members are:

Helpers gain experience through services

The library helpers were kept hopping under the guidance of two librarians. Their duties ranged from checking out books and filling out passes, to dusting and taking inventory. In the same vein were the office workers who assisted Mrs. Wines by distributing absentee sheets, carrying messages and typing. Students who helped in the Guidance Department were kept busy carrying memos and running errands in general. Members of the Visual Aids Club gave of their time to assist teachers with the audio-visual equipment.

Choral Groups include new all-girl chorus

On a stage designed to represent a cozy living room, the Madrigals, clad in gay skirts of Christmas red, grouped themselves family style to present a program of holiday songs. An added touch came when the Madrigals were joined by a group of younger singers from the lower grades, who delighted the listeners with their singing and who were delighted by the reading of traditional Christmas stories.

In addition to the bonus of the Madrigal concert, the traditional celebrations of Christmas were enhanced by the presence of Warren's vocalists. They joined the band in a Christmas gift to the community, a combined band and vocal concert, at which a can of food, to be used to fill Christmas baskets, was the price of admission. To inaugurate the holiday vacation, singers joined the Forensic Club to present a pageant of Christmas in story and song.

Band escorts Santa in the Christmas parade

The Hill became a busy place when the band and majorettes began marching in practice for their participation in parades.

With the beginning of the football season, the band, under the direction of Mr. Harry Parker, began their performances. They provided halftime entertainment for many of the home games including the Homecoming Game.

On Veteran's Day, Courthouse Square was the scene of the annual Veteran's Day Parade with WCHS represented in the line of march.

In the Christmas parade the band had the honor of escorting Old Saint Nick himself. To celebrate the Christmas season, they presented a Christmas concert.

Spring was highlighted by the annual Spring Concert and participation in the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Forensics Club wins district trophy again

The Forensics Club aims to develop the ability to speak, read orally, and participate in drama productions. This year, under the direction of the sponsor, Mrs. Essex Wagner, and president, Roger Powell, these goals were carried out through student participation in the monthly programs. "The Abbot of Canterbury" and "Two Crooks and a Lady" were two one-act plays that not only provided entertainment for the club but also illustrated the basic principles of drama.

The club expanded its plans this year to include an entry in the District Drama Festival. The fantasy, "Maker of Dreams" was prepared for presentation at the contest, and coupled with another single act work, was rendered for the public in the spring.

The work of the Forensics Club does not go unrewarded. In March 1966, the club won the district trophy for the second consecutive year. Then, in the state meet, Bill Johns and Roger Powell each captured first place medals, Jane Johns took second, and Harold Barnes received a third place award. Again this year the Forensics Club was represented in these contests.

First-Place winner in Boy's Poetry at the State Forensic Contest, Roger Powell enjoys reading from a book of poems.

Service clubs aid school and community

The Key Club came to life this year and initiated new promises while continuing with its traditional service activities. One of the club's main objectives was accomplished last fall when, for the first time, the dome of Warren County High was illuminated. Key Clubbers also accomplished a "first" when they established the John M. Harvey Scholarship in honor of the club's founder.

In the area of community service, Key Club rendered assistance by delivering Doc Smith Baskets to needy families at Christmas, manning the Salvation Army's Kettle house, and aiding Kiwanians at their annual Pancake Day.

Key Clubbers were also active in Division and District functions. They attended a Division meeting at Hagerstown, Maryland, and the district convention held in Roanoke this spring.

The Keyette Club of WCHS sprang back to life after a summer recess, in the first month of school, as they helped with registration at a District N Teacher's Meeting, held on September 24. Although every month brought new activities and money raising projects such as bake sales, all efforts were directed toward the most important money raising project of the year—the "Little Miss Warren County" contest. This annual contest, the second sponsored by the Keyettes, was held December 10 in the WCHS auditorium and all profits were designated for the Keyette National project—aid to the education of migrant workers on the Eastern Shore.

Finalizing plans for the Little Miss Contest are treasurer Elizabeth Boucher, president Claudia Scheuer, vice president Beth Carter, and secretary Keturah Denny.

SCA promotes successful magazine sale

The 1966-67 Student Cooperative Association started rolling in August. An avid drive was made for football program ads. Programs, containing team pictures and rosters, were sold at four home football games. This was the largest money-making project of the Student Council and the money collected aided the council's yearly activities. In October members attended the Student Cooperative Association District meeting in Luray. Ideas and projects were discussed and the SCA's were evaluated. This proved to be a very worthwhile trip. This year the SCA promoted the yearly magazine sale. Class competition was stressed and with the money received as profit by the school, glass backboards were purchased for the gymnasium. Students expressed the need for a cool water drinking fountain and the Student Council immediately started work on the project. Kathy Carney donated one fountain to the council and another will be purchased for the school. An open SCA meeting was held in December and another in March. These meetings gave the students a chance to see and to take part in a regular SCA meeting. Student Council members headed a committee to produce a student directory. They were completed soon after Christmas. In May the SCA held a lunch-on-the-lawn.

Fast runners provide excitement

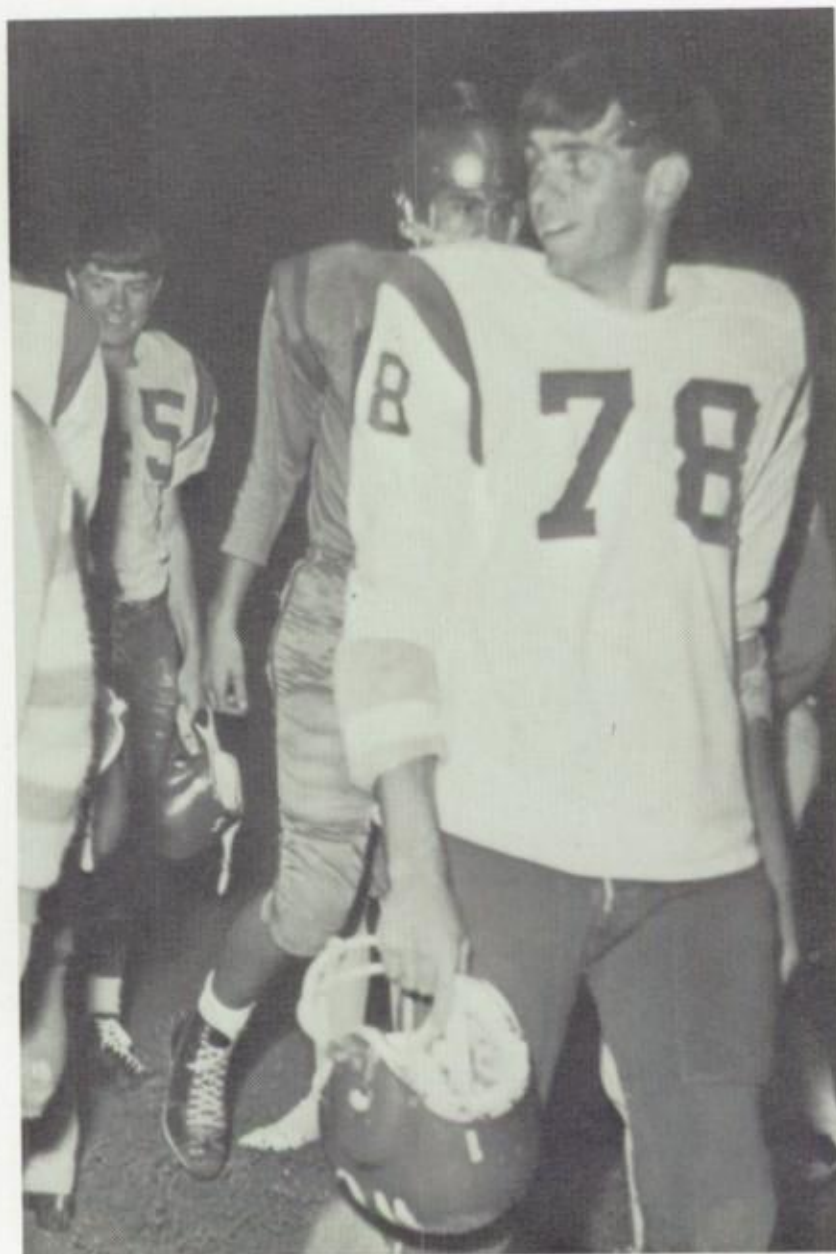

Led by veteran head coach Sweeney Shifflett and assisted by coaches Gene Foltz and Gerry Fawley, the '66 Wildcat football squad mounted a high and lofty 8-2 record which enabled them to get their share of the District 10 Championship. At the same time, the Cats instilled several "firsts" in the history of Warren County football.

This past season saw the inauguration of a new school individual scoring record as Andy Burke set the new standard at 102 points. This year also saw Jim Cameron walk away with the Winchester Evening Star's "Player of the Year Award," the first time a Warren Athlete has captured such an honor.

Last, but not least, in the area of sports "firsts" was the 19-0 victory over the Hadley Judges. This triumph, coupled with the last year's win, is the only time Warren has ever defeated the judges in two consecutive years.

Cutting through defense is Harv Williams.

A victory smile is seen on Tommy Biggs.

Beginning practice in early November, Coach Edmondson's Wildcats looked promising in what was to be the toughest District 10 in years. At the start of the season the starting five consisted of Bill Wood, Larry Miller, Jim Cameron, Andy Millar, and Burrell Brooks. Coach Edmondson rarely started the same five as they progressed. With the addition of Criser, the squad gathered five excellent players. One, Burrell Brooks, averaged over 14 points per game. The Cat's lead-rebounder was Bill Wood. He also kept a near 15 point game average. Herbert Washington scored 13 points a game and was the team's best ball-handler. Andy Millar, too, scored 14 points per game and had the individual high-scoring game with 30 points. At the District 10 tournament the Wildcats were seeded fourth. The Wildcats look to be strong in District 10 for the next few years.

Wildcat hilltoppers again lead District 10

For the third time in four years the Warren County nine captured the District 10 Baseball Championship. Under the excellent leadership of Coach Sweeney Shiflett and assistant Dick Dovell the Wildcats lacked very little as their pitchers and hitters brought fear into opposing teams. The Cat hitting attack, led by Danny Pond, Curley Hazelette, Andy Millar, and Jim Cameron, demolished rival pitchers as the team had an over all batting average of .321. In a tight game against Wardensville, center fielder Andy Millar collected 4 hits in 5 times at bat. Twice during the season Jim Cameron thrilled fans with his long home runs. Captain Danny Pond held a .400+ batting average and lead off man Curley Hazelette rarely failed to get on base. Pitchers

Bill Wood, Gene Millar, and John Mallinson had 4-1, 3-1, and 5-0 records. Warren County's losses came at the hands of Washington & Lee in a double-hitter. After these two defeats the Cats rolled over District opponents, winning 10 straight. The two biggest games of the season were against Turner Ashby and Elkton. Formerly unbeaten TA couldn't get moving as Warren poured in 6 first inning runs to win easily. To win the championship the Cats had to beat Elkton. In a very close game the Cats pulled it out on extra innings. Look out for another District Championship in 1967 as the Wildcat lose only two starters and are backed by the pitching of John Mallinson and Billy Wood.

Changes in lunch broaden horizons

Lunch shifts have changed in 1966. Come September (actually August 31), many students were dismayed, some were joyed, to find that there had been a radical change in the division of students for lunch. In past years, students had been divided by grades for lunch, but this year lunch shifts were designated by the location of a student's fourth period class. Fourth period classes which met on the first floor ate on the second shift and those meeting on the second floor ate on the first shift. All have become accustomed at last, and it seems to be a welcome change.

Students who have no errands to run are relegated to an extra fifteen minutes of homeroom period as the time between 8:30 and 8:45 has been designated for the return of library books and other tasks which cannot be done between classes. Although this system has worked well, the faculty seems to spend much time dispersing groups of students who would rather talk with friends than sit in homeroom and study. With growing cooperation from participants, though, this scheme has proved to be beneficial for students and teachers alike.

High School sees many changes in '67

This has been a year of changes for Warren County schools. The opening of school found two new administrators at WCHS. From teaching physics and chemistry at Albemarle High School, Charlottesville came Mr. Arthur Welch to serve as principal. Down the hill from RMA came Mr. Robert Long to fill the assistant principal's position. Both men hold MA degrees from the University of Virginia. Their dedicated service soon found for them a niche at WCHS.

In the summer of 1966 the redistricting of Warren County affected the composition of the School Board. The Board was increased from five to six members; other changes became necessary since the new decision placed two members in the same district. In October, two new members were selected by the Electoral Board. Dr. Doanld McNeil and Mr. Edwin Bowen were appointed. This six-man board reflects the population of Warren County—two farmers, two industry employees, one businessman, and one professional man.

Pausing from his hectic schedule is Mr. O. A. Norton, superintendent of the Warren-Rappahannock Public School System.

The 1967 School Board members are: Front Row: Mr. E. O. Kirby, Mr. Wheeler Maddox, Mr. O. A. Norton, Mr. Robert Leonard; Back Row: Mr. John Earle, Dr. Donald McNeil, Jr., Mr. Staige Miller, Mr. Ned Bowen, Mr. Clarence Gregory.

Warren County's new principal, Mr. Arthur A. Welch, promoted several innovations on the high school scene this year.

Another popular new personality on the administrative staff was Mr. Robert R. Long, the assistant principal.

The school secretary at Warren County High School is Mrs. Loretta Wines, a helpful aid to student body and faculty.

As Director of Instruction, Mr. Robert G. Leonard, Jr. establishes curricula and administers county programs.

Shown in her very well-organized laboratory is Mrs. Mary Hayes, science teacher and newspaper sponsor, using a balance.

Hoping for a win is Mr. John Edmondson, head of athletics and physical education.

Lighting the candles at the FTA reception with FTA members around her is Mrs. Wanda Grove, English teacher and FTA and cheerleader sponsor.

Dusting her desk as she makes ready for some of her 130 senior English students is Mrs. Madge Czarnitzki.

Diligently stamping a dancer at the Youth Center dance is Miss Edith Walter, history teacher and Mirror sponsor.

The face of Mr. Charles Via, Warren's Guidance Counselor, is reflected in the windshield of his sporty Stingray.

WCHS adds six new members to staff

Fresh from college or kitchen, Warren gained six new teachers. A sports enthusiast with an interest in flying, Mr. Eugene Foltz came from Shepherd College to coach and to teach science. With a variety of interests ranging from spelunking to reading philosophy, Mr. Anthony Freehauf joined the math department after graduating from Dukuque University. After residing in Front Royal for two years, Mrs. Barbara Culp left gardening to teach girl's physical education. Mrs. Katherine Biggs has been an active participant in the affairs of Front Royal. In September, she added to her list of services by agreeing to teach Spanish and English. After a brief retirement, Mrs. Nancy LeHew returned to teach English and act as co-sponsor of the Art Club. Mrs. Rachael Owings had planned to enjoy home and grandchildren, but duty called and she rejoined the English staff.

"One can't type well with hair in his eyes," says Mrs. Genivieve Mathews, Commercial teacher and FBLA sponsor.

Although Warren's accelerated math program provides students with more training, it still leaves time for Mrs. Janet Hookey and Mrs. Mae Mallinson.

Pausing from her busy schedule as Latin and history teacher and Latin Club sponsor is Mrs. Virginia Rives.

Perched upon a scaffold, Mrs. Essex Wagner, English teacher and forensics sponsor, makes some helpful suggestions for their prom to the class of '67.

Hopefully, the smile on the face of Mrs. Mary Owings, a new English teacher, means good English grades for students.

The pleasure of the occasion reflected on their faces, Mr. Robert Wood escorts Miss Gaylord Gibson to her testimonial dinner as Mrs. Wood and Mr. Joseph Weakley share the fun.

Dedicated teacher honored

Her library turned into a banquet room complete with candlelight and flowers . . . the presence of relatives and friends . . . letters of tribute from far and near . . . silver goblets from her colleagues . . . Miss Gibson almost speechless as the staff of Warren County High School gathered to pay tribute to a dedicated teacher.

From 1958 until she became librarian in 1959, Miss Gaylord Gibson taught English. These years have seen her become involved in every phase of school life. Her plays were well received; her yearbooks won prizes. The annual Library Club teas in the library meant that dinner would be superfluous for guests. As grade chairman, she helped to make the senior year memorable for many graduates. Space would not permit the listing of students whose lives have been touched by her influence—even if only a small portion of those cases was known.

A Wildcat hails Coach Lawrence Shiflett, geography teacher and Key Club sponsor, after a victory.

Displaying her usual pleasant manner, Miss Mae Burke Fox teaches attentive students in one of her World History or Geography classes.

As choir and music teacher, Miss Madeline MacNeil spends a lot of her time in this position.

One of Warren's new teachers, Mrs. Nancy LeHew displays the books she uses in English classes.

Using a new scientific method of separating the volumous files for the student body is Mrs. Kathryn Bentley, the busy guidance counselor.

Photographed in the sun's natural light is Miss Carol Rowzie, English and art instructor.

Carefully removing the cranium of Henrietta, the biology lab's mascot, for the class to see is Miss Nancy Robbins, biology teacher.

Teachers exhibit many interests, talents

The firm expression of Mr. Harry Parker tells why Warren's band is the greatest.

Greeting a student and her mother during the National Education Week reception is Mrs. Virginia Morgan, English and General Business teacher.

Smiling is Spanish, English teacher Mrs. Kathrine Biggs.

Caught writing a note is Mrs. Nancy McFall, French, English teacher.

Two gentlemen who took bus duty daily are teachers, Mr. Lloyd Robinson, Shop and Mechanical Drawing, and Mr. John White, Math.

Meditating as she grades a paper or types a letter is Mrs. Martha Ann Parker, Commercial Arts instructor.

Is the expression of Mr. Earl Franken, industrial arts instructor, one of curiosity, amusement, or tolerance?

"Here's the way to hold a hockey stick," says Mrs. Barbara Culp, head of girls' physical education.

Tuning in the current space shot or election report is Mrs. Elizabeth Denny, social studies teacher, Senior Activities Chairman, and the sponsor of the National Honor Society.

Myriad services cram teachers' days

Puffing and cranking, Mr. Anthony Freehauf prepares to hit his mathematics classes with a pop test.

The Warren Education Association, Latin and science classes, and Latin I Club occupy Mrs. Winnie Nicholls.

Performing one of her duties as home economics teacher, Mrs. Polly Gilbert, Junior Class chairman, and FHA sponsor, ardently sews a fine seam.

Freshman football player, Jerry Henry, shows agility as a quarterback on the varsity squad.

Although finally freshmen, they are still the youngest in the school. They have achieved many new responsibilities and have a higher position in the school's functions. Members of the Freshman class, the largest in the school, can be found in almost every activity. They are found in band, majorettes, F.T.A., Forensics, choral club, and many others. Twenty-nine of the freshmen boys participated in the J.V. football program and ten on the J.V. basketball team. Two of the freshmen girls were on the J.V. cheerleading squad.

As usual, the Freshman class was very active in the Student Council. The freshmen entered willingly into all of their activities. Patricia Baldwin, a freshman, was elected Treasurer of the S.C.A. by the entire student body.

David Collins rouses sophomores into a competitive spirit at the beginning of the magazine campaign sponsored by the S.C.A.

Schedules expand with biology and French

The Sophomore Class of WCHS showed its spirit in the wide range of activities in which its members participated. Their faces were seen in such places as French classes, the football field, the Student Council, and the Concert Choir. The stands at any athletic contest always contained an abundance of sophomores. They were found on the JV basketball squad, JV cheerleading squad, and the majorette squad. Sophomores were in evidence on the staff of the Wa-Co-Hi-Lights and the Mirror. They attended lectures on College Day and taped injured athletes. They participated in the Christmas Pageant and washed dishes in the cafeteria. At any meeting of the Key Club or Keyettes, Sophomores were in attendance. They swelled the ranks of the band and made contributions to the Science Fair. Distributive Education contained a group of eager young students. They contributed a member to the Homecoming Queen's court. The Sophomore Class has been busily preparing to meet its ultimate destiny at WCHS and its members will be ready to accept the challenges present in assuming the roles of juniors and finally seniors.

Class sponsors prom

and the dance brought in enough money for the class and their sponsors to start planning. Committees were set up, and the work was divided among them. The prom was presented April 28, 1967, in Warren County High School gym.

Money from class projects gave Miss Walter and Wayne English hopes for a memorable Prom. Everybody enjoyed the hard work of decorating that brought about the romantic reality.

Junior year filled with fun and frenzy

Puffing under the yearly strain of physical fitness tests is Diane Leach.

Athlete of many talents is Bill Wood, recipient of the Junior Ring Award.

Activity is slogan of the 1967 class

Although many of their ranks had walked the halls of Warren in seventh grade, the real Class of '67 came into being in the fall of 1962. The eighth grade brought aspiring learners to the brink of Latin and algebra, as advanced placement made these courses available to many students. Finally freshman, the Class of 67 acquired a name and a full-scale slot in the realm of high school activities. Active freshman could be found in every school activity. In their sophomore year, the Class of 67 began looking toward the future as they began their money-raising projects. Sophomores participated in the first operetta presented at WCHS, by securing many parts in The Fortune Teller. As a junior class, they charged into money making projects with an enthusiasm unlike any before. Not content with one project at a time, these juniors launched three full-scale projects in the first months of school. They sold candy, then towels, and sponsored a rocking Sadie Hawkins Dance complete with two live bands. By January, 1966, they were the richest junior class in history, with over one thousand dollars in the treasury. Creative juniors transformed an unimaginative gym into a magical summer garden, highlighted by a full-scale gazebo, as their "Summer Place" honored the Class of '66. Honor, and activity marked their senior year, as they grew closer together and then at graduation, divided to go their separate ways.

1967 Seniors seem to enjoy the traditional respect of underclassmen standing while seniors enter and leave.

In the victorious spirit of all Wildcat fans, Homecoming Queen, Jo Ann Perry kicks off her shoes to dance.

Seeming to have it made is John Shiner with glory, girlfriend and first honor role.

Would you believe class rings bring out a noble feeling in seniors?

In Memoriam

Words cannot express the sadness felt in the hearts of the students and faculty of WCHS at the death of one of its outstanding seniors, Claudia Scheuer. Claudia, a girl loved by all who knew her, made many lasting contributions as a leader and as a student. Her friendliness and warm personality will linger forever in the memories of her friends at WCHS, for she has truly left her footprints in the sands of time.

Seniors sponsor Sweetheart Dance

Cupid aims his arrows at the dancing couples.

The thrill of being named 1967 Sweetheart Queen is registered on the face of Miss Sue Gardner as she is crowned by the principal, Mr. Arthur A. Welch.

The Queen and her court enjoy a song played by "Brutus and the Roamin's."

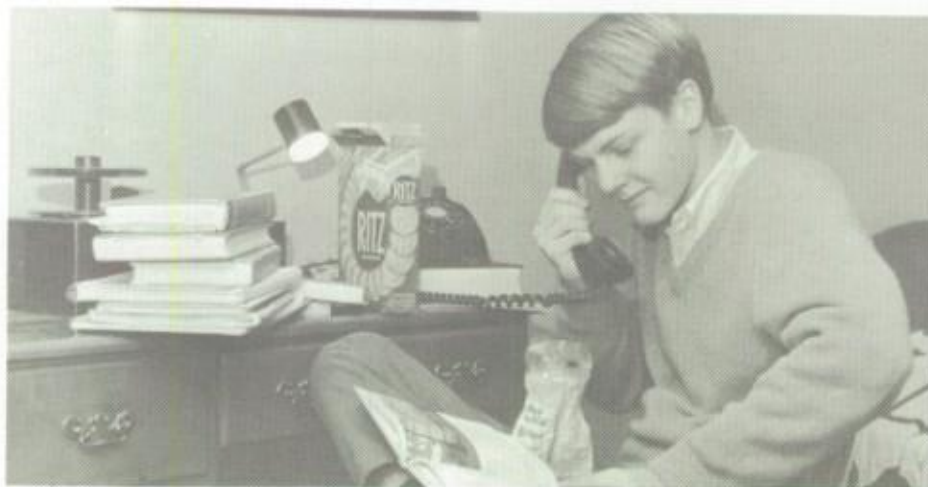

Faces reflect mixed emotions of graduates

As graduation nears, seniors are glad, sad, or pensive as are these graduating performers.

Sandy,
Best of luck

Sandy,
Best of luck in the future to a great girl. I hope you and
D. Harney had a nice prom.
Too bad I'm just a sophomore.
Good luck in the sorority!

Gary

Sandy,
Best of luck to
"Davies' Woman"
R.M.A.

Sandy,
Best of luck in the future to a real "hell raiser." Keep your great looks and wonderful personality.
Hope to see you lot this summer.
Be careful with the men.
Love ya,
David
